OUR LOVE Story

Their story began in high school.

Somewhere between shared friends and after-school movies, Brianna and Jonathan found themselves walking to a park one afternoon, where they shared their first kiss. It was young, simple, and more meaningful than either of them could have understood at the time.

Not long after, life pulled them in different directions. Jonathan transferred schools, and the closeness they had found faded into memory as they grew up separately.

Years later, in college, they reconnected. What began as a familiar conversation turned into a movie date on December 13, 2013 — the start of not something new, but something resumed. This time, with intention.

Since then, they have built a life side by side. From saying “I love you” under the electric sky of EDC Las Vegas, to traveling through Puerto Vallarta, to the quiet, everyday moments that truly shape a partnership.

Nearly thirteen years after choosing each other again, they stand in Paris not at the beginning of their story, but in the middle of it — celebrating a love that returned, grew up, and endured.
